6/23/15

Scott Stevens

Non-profit elects new president, vice president; re-elects treasurer and secretary to board of directors

The Baltimore Station, a therapeutic residential recovery program, announced today the election of a new slate of officers for the non-profit's board of directors, including Scott Stevens as president. Louis Kousouris III will serve as the organization's new Vice President, Bryan Benson will resume his role as treasurer and Jonathan Knight will resume his role as secretary. All officers will assume these positions effective immediately.

Scott Stevens is the president of Modu Tech, a construction company and housing plant in South Baltimore. He serves on The Baltimore Station's Facilities Committee and has been actively involved with the organization since 2010. Additionally, Stevens previously served on the board of directors of Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Central Maryland, Job Opportunities Task Force and Treatment Resources for Youth. He is a graduate of Loyola High School and the University of Maryland, College Park and currently resides in Baltimore County with his wife and two children. Steven will serve as president of The Baltimore Station for two years.

Louis Kousouris III is the president and principal of Colliers International, Baltimore. He serves on The Baltimore Station's Facilities Committee and has been instrumental in creating policies and procedures to secure outside support for ongoing maintenance at the organization's two locations. He has served on the board of directors for various other organizations including Camp Puh'tok for Boys and Girls, The Homes at Clipper Mill and Clipper Mill Association. A West Point graduate and veteran of Operation Iraqi Freedom, Kousouris is passionate about providing transitional services to military service members.

Bryan Benson is a senior manager at CohnReznick and currently serves on The Baltimore Station's Finance Committee. He has worked at CohnReznick for the more than nine years and has extensive experience managing audits, tax returns and relationships for clients. Prior to his role at CohnReznick, Benson served as an auditor for the Baltimore County Government and Anderson Associates, as well as a financial consultant for Merrill Lynch. He received his bachelor's degree from Salisbury University and currently resides in Baltimore County.

Jonathan Knight is a corporate financial officer at Ankota, Inc and currently serves on The Baltimore Station's Program Committee. He has extensive experience in corporate finance as well as owning and managing his own healthcare business. Knight also serves on the board of directors for St. David's Episcopal Church Vestry and is committed to helping those who are working to change their lives for the better.

"I want to thank the Board for this opportunity to serve The Baltimore Station and the greater Baltimore community," said Stevens. "I am honored to take on this role with an organization that continues to provide life-changing services to our veterans. I am confident that with the support of our board, staff, financial supporters and friends of The Station, we will continue to turn lives around."

About The Baltimore Station

The Baltimore Station is a therapeutic residential recovery program that helps homeless men – primarily veterans – bound by drug and alcohol addiction to break the cycle and become self-sufficient members of society. The only long-term residential program in the area, we provide up to 24 months of clinical care and life skills development to encourage a smoother transition to the real world and guaranteed lifelong success. At The Baltimore Station, we turn lives around. www.baltimorestation.org.
