

Modu Tech joins The Baltimore Station's corporate giving program

By: Daily Record Staff ◉ March 15, 2018

Modu Tech, a Baltimore-based turnkey carpentry business providing products and services to general contractors, joined The Baltimore Station's "Friends of The Station" corporate giving program Thursday with a $10,000 donation to help the residential treatment program supporting veterans and others transitioning from homelessness and substance use disorder to self-sufficiency.

The donation is an expansion of Modu Tech's partnership with the organization, which has included employing residents as maintenance support staff and providing organizational oversight by having staff serve on its board of directors.

Launched in 2017, the Friends of The Station program recognizes the individual donors, businesses and other partners that have committed $2,500 or more of financial support to The Baltimore Station. Current organizations that are part of the "Friends of The Station" giving program are Highpoint Global, Maryland Multi-Housing Association, TE SubCom and The South Baltimore Network.
